

License Types

Node Locked

The Partek Genomics Suite software and license resides on a single computer (laptop, desktop, or server - any type). Any user with an account on the computer can use the license. Remote access capability is not available. Windows and Macintosh platforms only.

Floating Concurrent

The Partek Genomics Suite license is installed on one computer on a network, which becomes the "license server". Partek Genomics Suite software is installed on an unlimited number of computers, which use the network to access the license. Concurrent license use is limited to the number of seats purchased. The license server should remain on and accessible over the network at all times.

Locked Floating

The Partek Genomics Suite license is installed on one computer and can be accessed locally or remotely by only one person at a time.

